

Bombs

Bombs are falling down, down, down
Landmines are paving the ground
Children screaming out of pain
A terrible picture remains

Why should we all pay for your faults
Why should we sacrifice our lives for you
Why should we all pay for your faults
Instead they should kill you

The city is burning, my house is on fire
I'm losing my life in the flames
And the flames are growing higher
We build it up
You burn it down
The vicious circle goes round and round

Why should we all pay for your faults
Why should we sacrifice our lives for you
Why should we all pay for your faults
Instead they should kill you

One wrong word
One action done
One fucking word and the war is on
You define our fate
Identity is gone
It's time to change everything wrong
